Violence Alan S. Bellack,Michel Hersen,R.L. Morrison,Vincent B. Van Hasselt,2013-06-29 In the last decade there has been heightened clinical and investigative activity in the area of family violence This of course is partly attributable to recent surveys showing a high incidence of family violence in the United States For example there are indications that nearly 30% of married women in this country are victims of physical abuse by spouses at some point in their marriage Further FBI statistics show that approximately 13% of all homicides are husband wife killings Moreover it has been projected that such figures are likely to increase over the next several years Consistent with these trends funding of family violence research by both federal and private agencies has increased Indeed federal agencies such as the National Institute of Mental Health and the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice have provided considerable support for work in this area In addition family violence particu larly wifebattering child abuse and sexual abuse of children has been the focus of media attention at the national level and has generated intensive interest in both lay and profes sional publications Moreover there have been several recent governmental hearings and investigations regarding the prevalence of these problems Gender-Inclusive Treatment of Intimate Partner Abuse, Second Edition John Hamel,2013-11-08 This groundbreaking book on the gender inclusive treatment of intimate partner abuse has been fully updated to reflect new and refined evidence based approaches that have evolved since the first edition was published nearly ten years ago. It describes new treatment protocols that are strongly supported by current research that enables mental health practitioners to engage in a more nuanced and gender inclusive conceptualization and treatment of intimate partner abuse in its many permutations. The book eschews the field's previous reliance on traditional domestic violence and treatment protocols to offer new paradigms that reflect the trend toward a more balanced evidence based and less heteronormative conceptualization of partner abuse. It presents the latest findings from the third installment of the Partner Abuse State of Knowledge Project. Included are new examples of evidence based programs currently in existence and those that are in formative stages, fully updated exercises and handouts, new risk assessment instruments and new definitions of evidence based treatment. Of special note are several new appendices that include updated assessment forms, a victim safety plan, client workbook, guidelines and exercises, resources and programs for court ordered clients and exercises for high conflict family violence parent groups. In addition, a new assessment protocol will be available as a free download. New to the Second Edition includes the latest findings from the Partner Abuse State of Knowledge Project, presents most current literature on risk assessment instruments, provides new definitions of evidence based treatment regarding degree of rigor along with outcome data and newest relevant studies, discusses promising new group programs, includes a new assessment tool available as free download, describes several new evidence based gender inclusive approaches, offers comprehensive appendices that reflect recent advances including new assessment forms, a victim safety plan, client workbook, guidelines and exercises, resources and programs for court ordered clients and exercises for high conflict family violence parent groups.

Handbook of LGBT-Affirmative Couple and Family Therapy Jerry J. Bigner, Joseph L. Wetchler, 2012-05-04. The editors and contributors of this comprehensive text provide a unique and important contribution to LGBT clinical literature. Spanning 30 chapters, they discuss the diverse and complex issues involved in LGBT couple and family therapy. In almost 15 years, this book provides the first in depth overview of the best practices for therapists and those in training who wish to work effectively with LGBT clients. Couples and families need to know and is only the second of its kind in the history of the field. The clinical issues discussed include raising LGBT children, coming out, elderly LGBT issues, sex therapy, ethical and training issues. Because of the breadth of the book, its specificity and the expertise of the contributing authors and editors, it is the definitive handbook on LGBT couple and family therapy.

Domestic Violence Perpetrators John Devaney, Anne Lazenbatt, 2016-07-15. Domestic violence is a serious, widespread public social and health problem that affects the lives of many women, children and men. There is also evidence to suggest it has one of the highest rates of recidivism. This comprehensive book provides an overview of what the research tells us about the perpetrators of domestic violence and what works and what doesn't in promoting positive change Collecting together the most up to date evidence from the international literature and bringing psychological sociological gendered and socio political theoretical perspectives to bear on the issue the authors explore what domestic violence is why it happens and how it can be measured who the perpetrators of domestic violence are including discussion of non stereotypical patterns such as male victims female perpetrators couples where the abuse is mutual and couples with abusive relationships who want the abuse to end but the relationship to be sustained strategies for engaging perpetrators in interventions and for promoting behaviour change evidence informed interventions programmes and policies for working with perpetrators where robust evidence is lacking and more research needs to be undertaken Domestic violence is a significant problem for those individuals and families whose life is affected by this issue the social health and criminal justice agencies that respond to it and wider society which must bear the costs and its devastating effects This volume is an important reference for all those researching and working with the victims survivors and perpetrators of domestic violence including academics and students from fields such as social work sociology criminology psychology and social policy     Reclaim Your Relationship Patricia S.
