The Amateur's Greenhouse and Conservatory Shirley Hibberd, 2023-07-19 Reprint of the original first published in 1873

The Amateur's Greenhouse and Conservatory Shirley Hibberd, 2015-06-16 Excerpt from The Amateur's Greenhouse and Conservatory A Handy Guide to the Construction and Management of Planthouses and the Selection Cultivation and Improvement of Ornamental Greenhouse and Conservatory Plants Considering the treacherous nature of our climate and the length of the winter season it cannot be said we have as yet attained to a full knowledge of the value of glass in horticulture Nevertheless immense progress has been made since glass and bricks and timber were rendered free of duty and the vast number of patented plant houses and protective pits that are now in the market sufficiently prove that the demand for such has increased and is increasing An amateur who purposes to provide some kind of glass structure to enlarge the uses and enhance the enjoyments of the garden may well be perplexed at first as to the best mode of procedure The horticultural papers teem with advertisements of portable imperishable and multum in parvo plant houses and with an almost endless variety of apparatus for heating It will be found however on careful inspection that in plan and material these do not greatly differ and that in certain leading particulars they very nearly agree all round so that a blind man could scarcely go wrong except perhaps as to price in making choice amongst them But it is not every one who desires the latest patented invention turned out complete as from a bandbox In one case an amateur may elect to be his own builder in another there may be need to give a builder directions and perhaps to watch over the work One important condition of success whatever be the mode of procedure is that the amateur should have a clear idea of the sort of house required to suit the plants he intends to shelter in it The great point is to begin well and the business of the writer of this will be to point out as clearly as possible how the desired end is to be secured at the least possible expense and with the greatest possible promise of a successful issue Matters of fact will concern us chiefly but matters of opinion will perhaps occasionally intrude and be governed always with good intentions and seasoned with some little knowledge of the subject sufficient let us hope for the purpose About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Amateur's Greenhouse and Conservatory Shirley Hibberd,1888 Glenny's Hand-book to the flower garden and greenhouse George

The others I care little about in fact all the small flowering ones may be dispensed with and especially as we are acquiring new varieties of the larger kind every season They grow best in loam and peat and if the loam be from rotted turfs no dung if it be plain put one part loam one part leaf mould and two parts peat Fill the thirty two sized pots within an inch and a half of the top first settling it down by striking the pot on the table then place about half a dozen of the largest tubers in the soil and cover them up nearly to the top of the pot Let this be done in January or February and place them in the stove anywhere When they come up they must be placed in the light the nearer the better Befresh them occasionally with The Hothouse and Greenhouse Manual, Or, Botanical Cultivator Robert Sweet,1839 Guide to the Specialist Nurseries and Garden Suppliers of Britain and Ireland Sarah Cotton,1989 The Best Books William Swan Sonnenschein,1887 Greenhouse Construction Levi Rawson Taft,1894 The Readers' Guide and Students' Review Hampstead Public Libraries (London, England),1910 The Cider Makers' Hand Book J.
