

Hydrologic Cycle

The Hydrologic Cycle (also called the Water Cycle) is the continuous movement of water in the air, on the surface of and below the Earth.

Human activities that alter the water cycle:

- Alteration of Atmosphere
- Construction of Dams
- Deforestation and Afforestation
- Water Abstraction from Rivers
- Agriculture
- Industry
- Urbanization

The hydrologic cycle is the exchange of energy which influences climate. When water condenses, it releases energy and warms the environment. When water evaporates it takes energy from the surrounding environment, dropping temperatures.

Process Definitions:

Condensation

The transformation of water vapor to liquid water droplets in the air, creating clouds and fog.

Deposition

Also known as desublimation, is a thermodynamic process, a phase transition in which gas (vapor) transforms into solid (ice).

Evaporation

The transformation of water from liquid to gas phases as it moves from the ground or bodies of water into the overlying atmosphere.

Percolation

Water flows horizontally through the soil and rocks under the influence of gravity.

Precipitation

Condensed water vapor that falls to the Earth's surface. Most precipitation occurs as rain, but also includes snow, hail, fog drip, graupel, and sleet.

Sublimation

The state change directly from solid water (snow or ice) to water vapor.

Transpiration

The release of water vapor from plants and soil into the air. Water vapor is a gas that cannot be seen.
