Conversation Analysis and Sociological Theory Melisa Stevanovic, David Inglis, Anssi Peräkylä, Emmi Koskinen, 2024-08-22 The relations between Conversation Analysis CA sociology and social theory are complex often ambiguous and have sometimes been rather fraught While there might be some relatively high level of agreement amongst their practitioners on what CA is what it does and what it is meant to achieve that is not so much the case for the more open and broad terrains of sociology and social theory Moreover each of the domains in question has changed in orientation composition and academic location since CA first came into existence in the late 1960s While initially a child of sociology as CA has matured and extended its substantive and methodological reach it has become a large intellectual domain in its own right with inputs from and relevance for a host of other disciplines notably linguistics anthropology and psychology It is now no longer at all clear how CA relates to sociology and social theory what each side currently does or what it could bring to the other in the future

Navigating Friendships in Interaction Cade Bushnell, Stephen J. Moody, 2023-12-14 Bushnell and Moody present a rich investigation into the navigation of friendships adopting discursive and ethnographic perspectives to examine Japanese Chinese Korean and

English interactional data Since the definition of friendship is hard to pin down most sociocultural anthropologists have tended to focus on issues of kinship and descent while leaving friendship as a residual or interstitial issue However this book puts friendship as the central focus and offers unique perspectives from the participants themselves The interactional work implicated in the accomplishment of making and being friends and the trials and tribulations of friendship are both explored through the many detailed analyses showing how the participants navigate the calm and rough waters of friendship in and through their everyday interactions Researchers undergraduates and postgraduate students in the fields of conversation analysis pragmatics and other social sciences will benefit from the real life examples in the book as well as the analysis

Communicating & Relating Robert B. Arundale, 2020 Communicating Relating offers an account of how human relating emerges in everyday communicating an account of how as participants engage one another in everyday talk and conduct they mutually constitute actions and meanings and in so doing constitute both their relationships with one another and what is known across cultures as face

Contemporary Language Motivation Theory Ali H. Al-Hoorie, Peter D. MacIntyre, 2019-11-18 This book brings together contributions from the leaders of the language learning motivation field The varied chapters demonstrate how Gardner's work remains integral to a diverse range of contemporary theoretical issues underlying the psychology of language even today 60 years after the publication of Gardner and Lambert's seminal 1959 paper The chapters cover a wide selection of topics related to applied linguistics second language acquisition social psychology sociology methodology and historical issues The book advances thinking on cutting edge topics in these diverse areas providing a wealth of information for both students and established scholars that show the continuing and future importance of Gardner and Lambert's ideas

The Practical Nature of L2 Teaching Joan Kelly Hall, Yingliang He, Su Yin Khor, 2023-07-26 Drawing on video recordings and transcripts from a wide range of L2 teaching contexts The Practical Nature of L2 Teaching presents a comprehensive examination of eight sets of specialized actions and action sequences involved in whole group instruction Each of the chapters highlights in exquisite detail the sophisticated real world accomplishment of L2 teaching The purpose is not to impose a vision of how L2 teaching should be done Instead it is to illuminate its complexities and in so doing reveal informative differences between idealized understandings of L2 teaching and its lived realities The book is essential reading for advanced undergraduates graduate students and researchers studying and working in the areas of classroom interaction L2 teaching and L2 teacher education

Interpretative Phenomenological Analysis or Narrative Psychology Whatever approach you choose to take this book will ensure you get it right from the start New to this Third Edition A chapter on Thematic Analysis A section on how to choose and select the most appropriate method for your project The Work and Workings of Human Communication Robert E. Sanders, 2021-03-02 Discover the fundamentals of human communication with this comprehensive and insightful resource Written in four sections The Work and Workings of Human Communication identifies the underlying fundamentals that make our communication distinctively human These fundamentals are the common ground that tie together the many topics and subject matters covered by the study and discipline of communication They are also the basis of the unique contribution of the communication discipline to the social sciences Professor researcher and theorist Robert E Sanders starts by focusing on what is unique about human communication and moves on to an examination of the complexities of scientific inquiry in the social sciences in general and in the communication discipline specifically At the heart of the matter is the fact that humans are thinking beings who can make choices and therefore are not entirely predictable This points towards new topics and questions that are likely to arise as the discipline evolves Sanders approach leads to recognition of the fact that communication is at the center of how humans build our ways of life and participate together By focusing on the underlying fundamentals that give rise to the discipline s topics and subject areas The Work and Workings of Human Communication encourages students to engage in independent thought about what they want to contribute by Emphasizing the importance of communication in creating sustaining or changing and participating in our ways of life on an interpersonal level and on a societal level Recognizing that human communication is inherently collaborative people affect situations by interacting with others not acting on others Explaining the history current agendas and possible future of the social science side of the Communication discipline A perfect resource for new graduate students in introductory communication courses who have an interest in the social science side of the discipline The Work and Workings of Human Communication is also highly valuable for undergraduate communication and liberal arts students who don t possess a background in the discipline The Discourse of Comfort in Chinese Online Medical Consultations Ying Jin, 2025-09-19 This book integrates perspectives from conversation analysis CA and discursive psychology to shed light on doctor patient communication in asynchronous web based interactions through the lens of the discourse of comfort While previous research has been done in this space on face to face encounters this book seeks to bring further attention to comfort in online text interactions between doctors and patients examining its capacity to convey emotional support encourage troubles telling and facilitate problem solving in medical encounters A discursive psychology approach provides a complementary perspective to ethnomethodology and CA frameworks applied to an extensive corpus with data scraping in Python While Chinese data is featured this integrated approach allows for a nuanced view of the differences between spoken and online interactions as well as the role of technology in the organization of talk and doctor patient communication more broadly This book will be valuable reading for students and scholars interested in talk in interaction CA health communication language and health pragmatics and social psychology Ageing Identities and Women's Everyday Talk in a Hair Salon Rachel Heinrichsmeier, 2020-01-14 The ageing of the world's populations particularly in Western developed countries is a well documented phenomenon and despite many positive images of later life in the media and public discourse later life is frequently depicted as a time of inevitable physical and cognitive decline Against this background Heinrichsmeier presents the results of her two year sociolinguistic study examining how a group of older women of different ages negotiated their way through their own and others expectations of ageing and constructed different kinds of older and other identities for themselves Through vivid and nuanced analysis of their chat and practices in a small village hair salon Heinrichsmeier reveals these women's subtle and skilful manipulation of stereotypes of ageing and the impact of the evolving talk on their identity constructions Her study which provides numerous short extracts of talk in both the hair salon and interview along with more detailed case studies highlights the importance of such apparently trivial sites for both studying older people's identity work and as loci for positive identity constructions and well being in later life This book will be of particular interest to graduate students and scholars working in sociolinguistics discourse analysis conversation analysis and gerontological studies as well as those interested in approaches integrating ethnography and language
