Strikes Around the World, 1968-2005, 2007 Are strikes going out of fashion or are they an inevitable feature of working life This is a longstanding debate The much proclaimed withering away of the strike in the 1950s was quickly overturned by the resurgence of class conflict in the late 1960s and 1970s The period since then has been characterized as one of labor quiescence Commentators again predict the strikes demise at least in the former heartlands of capitalism Patterns of employment are constantly changing and strike activity reflects this The continuing decline of manufacturing in mature industrialized economies is of major importance here though the global relocation of manufacturing may lead to some relocation of strikes Simultaneously we see the growth of disputes in the service sector the tertiarization of strikes This is evident particularly in public services including health care social care and education and is accompanied by a feminization of strikes given the prevalence of women working there This unique study draws on the experience of fifteen countries around the world South Africa Argentina Canada Mexico United States Korea Australia New Zealand Belgium Denmark France Germany the Netherlands Sweden and the United Kingdom Covering the high and low points of strike activity over the period 1968 2005 the study shows continuing evidence of the durability adaptability and necessity of the strike
