reveals something of the mystery in which creativity finds its way from the energies of the cosmos into the imagination and faculties of the individual artist and eventually into the solitude of the studio and finally into a work of art From the reports of mystics to the observations of scientists these passages have been arranged in this volume to provide brief glimpses into the recesses of artistic being into the tentative formations in consciousness the first glimmers of imagination the distinctive faculties of the creative mind and the tensions of artistic expression in the workshop and the creative life Fitzgerald's great contribution has been to gather into a meaningful collection the words of 2 500 years of genius as a resource and inspiration for all those who would break out of creative limitations and take a bold step into the future Illustrated with the art of the author and others

The Roots of Education Rudolf Steiner, 1998-02 In an age focused increasingly upon a cultural political and social understanding of otherness as diversity preferring to ponder God if at all mostly in terms of immanence depth psychology is in danger of becoming breadth psychology The search for transcendence has become more and more the province of New Age weekend workshops On the other hand depth psychology that seeks only the transpersonal without the incarnate spirit in the flesh of everyday relationships in history may likewise prove to be a failed enterprise In this work I compare and contrast Boehme's and Jung's experiences with a special focus on the religious or psychological experience of what Erich Neumann calls unitary reality a ground of being that contains all opposites in potentiality from the book Dark Light of the Soul explores the inner journeys of Jacob Boehme the seventeenth century Protestant mystic and C G Jung the twentieth century depth psychologist Each was concerned with the immediacy of experience yet comprehended the importance of spirit as a transforming presence in human life Kathryn Wood Madden connects the experiences of these two pioneers focusing on a ground of being that contains all opposites in potentiality She examines those experiences from the perspective of depth psychology and religion offering meaningful insights for anyone on a path of inner development as well as for professionals in clinical settings Dark Light of the Soul will be of interest to all therapeutic clinicians and anyone who wishes a deeper understanding of and fresh paths into the human psyche Because so much tension exists in the world in the way each of us apprehends the divine we sorely need a way of working with our psyches this is imperative in fact to human existence and survival in the face of terrorism fundamentalism and archetypal evil We need to locate and work within a psycho spiritual umbrella that is large enough to house contradictions from the book

The Anthroposophical Understanding of the Soul F. W. Zeylmans van Emmichoven, 1983-03 A new psychology of the human soul Use of the word soul to denote the inner world of human experience has not been fashionable in the psychology of recent times However as Zeylmans van Emmichoven stresses in this groundbreaking study human inner life is always active as a whole entity which calls for recognition of the soul as a significant aspect of the human entity Drawing on the works of Goethe Franz Brentano Edmund Husserl Max Scheler and Rudolf Steiner this original approach to psychology uses the soul's own self perception as the method of clarifying the mysteries of the inner life The soul as an inner world participates in two worlds an external world and a still deeper interior world The soul is revealed as a mediator between the outer physical world including the body and the inner core of the human being the I or true self Through its intentional relationship to these two worlds an ever shifting stream of dynamic polarities courses continuously through the soul love hate joy sorrow pleasure displeasure desire satisfaction laughing weeping life consciousness Many soul processes are explored in this context including doubt will mental images perceiving judgment and decision time and space experience and sexual identity as well as how the soul expresses itself in the language of dreams in everyday speech in posture in temperament and in character In addition Van Emmichoven proposes yet another dimension of the human soul through the idea of the soul's drive for development which unfolds through the Goethean laws of polarity enhancement and metamorphosis He paints a profound picture of the higher aim of human life the soul's gradual liberation from physical bonds to become an organ for the I yet always balanced by the soul's inclination to become an organ for the body Along this unfinished journey toward a full human existence he describes the roles played by love by wisdom and by inner death and resurrection As van Emmichoven points out with this understanding of the soul it is clear that there is an area where psychology and a philosophy of life overlap and indeed cannot be entirely separated If we were to define how the understanding of the soul represented in this book is related to contemporary schools of thought there are three thinkers Herder Goethe and Steiner whose spiritual outlook has had a decisive influence The fact that none of these thinkers became particularly well known in this field is not so surprising if we take into account the comprehensive wisdom and spiritual depth which distinguish their works from the introduction
