Good Soldier Worlds Classics:

The Good Soldier Ford Madox Ford, 2012-09-06 This is the saddest story I have ever heard Wealthy American John Dowell describes in a disarmingly casual compellingly intimate manner how he and his wife Florence meet an English couple in a German spa resort They become friends over the years and gradually the history of their relationships and the passions that lie behind the orderly Edwardian facade are unveiled Dowell is the archetypal unreliable narrator and his casual revelations are both unexpected and explosive A masterpiece of early Modernism and a virtuoso performance of literary skill Ford's Tale of Passion reflects contemporary interests in psychology sexuality and the New Woman Its portrayal of the destruction of a civilized elite anticipates the cataclysm of the First World War which erupted while Ford was finishing the book This new edition includes Ford's important essay On Impressionism which sheds valuable light on his artistic technique ABOUT THE SERIES For over 100 years Oxford World's Classics has made available the widest range of literature from around the globe Each affordable volume reflects Oxford's commitment to scholarship providing the most accurate text plus a wealth of other valuable features including expert introductions by leading authorities helpful notes to clarify the text up to date bibliographies for further study and much more

Ford Madox Ford's The Good Soldier, 2015-06-02 The controversial British writer Ford Madox Ford is increasingly recognized as a major presence in early twentieth century literature He is best known for his fiction especially The Good Soldier long considered a modernist masterpiece and Parade's End which was adapted by Tom Stoppard for the acclaimed 2012 television series starring Benedict Cumberbatch This volume marks the centenary of The Good Soldier with eighteen essays by established experts and new scholars It includes groundbreaking work on the novel's narrative technique chronology and genre plus pioneering work considering the treatment of bodies and minds eugenics poison and surveillance Innovative comparative studies discuss Ford's novel in relation to Henry James Violet Hunt H G Wells Franz Kafka Jean Rhys David Jones and Lawrence Durrell

Between Self and Society John Rodden, 2016-01-15 Between Self and Society explores the psychosocial dramas that galvanize six major British novels written between the eighteenth and twentieth centuries The book challenges an influential misconception that has for too long hindered appreciation of the psychological novel John Rodden argues that there should be no simplifying antithesis between psychological inner conflicts within the mind or soul and institutional outer conflicts within family class community Instead it is the overarching dramatic yet often tortuous relations between self and society that demand our attention Rodden presents fresh interpretations of an eclectic group of prose fiction classics including Tobias Smollett's The Adventures of Roderick Random William Godwin's Caleb Williams Thomas Hardy's The Mayor of Casterbridge Ford Madox Ford's The Good Soldier Wyndham Lewis's Tarr and D H Lawrence's Women in Love Far from being merely admirable experiments let alone daring though interesting failures these fictions are shown to possess aesthetic unity stylistic consistency and psychic force Between Self and Society thus impels our careful reconsideration of novels that represent

major artistic achievements yet have been either unjustly neglected or appreciated in limiting ways that do injustice to their psychological aspects Rodden's vibrant discussion invites an upward revaluation of these works and encourages the full recognition of their value and significance in British literary history

Food and Culture in the Works of Ford Madox Ford, Gertrude Stein, and Virginia Woolf Nanette O'Brien, 2024-01-09 Writing about food has long been a part of autobiographical expression that combines culinary record keeping and histories drawing on the personal and the cultural Concentrating on the transatlantic work of Ford Madox Ford Gertrude Stein and Virginia Woolf this book illuminates modernist uses of the terms civilization and barbarism showing how these concepts are shaped by the rules of preparing and eating food in literature and in public Nanette O'Brien introduces the concept of culinary Impressionism as an extension and repositioning of current scholarly thinking about Ford's literary Impressionism and his synesthetic writing about cookery and small farming She also presents a new reading of Stein's crafting of her modernist authority as interlinked with her cooks and shows Stein's and Toklas's jointly authored unpublished cookbook draft as evidence of their direct authorial collaboration and of Stein adapting domestic culinary techniques into her other writing O'Brien goes on to present new archival research demonstrating that Virginia Woolf's representation of the financial and culinary difference between men's and women's dining in colleges at the University of Cambridge is justified and the material inequality was in fact worse than previously understood This disparity in institutional food intensifies Woolf's later reimagining of the term civilization While drawing on themes of modernism and life writing the everyday domestic life and gender the book argues that food is a vehicle for positive modernist reconceptions of civilization

Neuman The Waves Virginia Woolf, 2015 I who would wish to feel close over me the protective waves of the ordinary catch with the tail of my eye some far horizon Intensely visionary yet absorbed with the everyday experimental daring and challenging The Waves is regarded by many as Virginia Woolf's greatest achievement It follows a set of six friends from childhood to middle age as they experience the world around them and explore who they are and what it means to be alive As the contours of their lives are revealed a unique novel is slowly unveiled Enfolded within Woolf's lyrical and mysterious language the mundane takes on a startling new significance while distant pasts are no less in play than the clamorous sounds and kaleidoscopic sights of the modern city Yet precisely where the alluringly enigmatic pages of The Waves are leading and what deeper meanings are held within its undulant chapters and shimmering interludes are questions that have never ceased to enthrall readers and critics alike In this new edition David Bradshaw considers the spellbinding oddness and originality of The Waves helping the reader to negotiate a way through this most poetic and haunting of novels Features A new edition of Woolf's novel regarded by many as her greatest achievement Edited by David Bradshaw a distinguished Woolf scholar and editor of acclaimed editions of Mrs Dalloway To the Lighthouse The Mark on the Wall and Other Stories and Woolf's Selected Essays Draws on the latest scholarship for the introduction and notes which help to orient the reader through the novel's complexity Up to date bibliography Full and helpful chronology Biographical preface by Frank Kermode New to this edition Introduction by David Bradshaw Revised and updated Select Bibliography Fuller chronology New and expanded notes Re-set text for improved appearance Edited by David Bradshaw University of Oxford Publisher's note The Oxford English Literary History: Volume 10: 1910-1940: The Modern Movement Chris Baldick, 2005-11-10 This exciting new volume provides a freshly inclusive account of literature in England in the period before during and after the First World War Chris Baldick places the modernist achievements of Virginia Woolf T S Eliot and James Joyce within the rich context of non modernist writings across all major genres allowing high literary art to be read against the background of low entertainment Looking well beyond the modernist vanguard Baldick highlights the survival and renewal of realist traditions in these decades of post Victorian disillusionment Ranging widely across psychological novels war poems detective stories satires and children's books The Modern Movement provides a unique survey of the literature of this turbulent time Everyday Stories Rachel Bowlby, 2016-06-30 The Literary Agenda is a series of short polemical monographs about the importance of literature and of reading in the wider world and about the state of literary education inside schools and universities The category of the literary has always been contentious What is clear however is how increasingly it is dismissed or is unrecognised as a way of thinking or an arena for thought It is sceptically challenged from within for example by the sometimes rival claims of cultural history contextualized explanation or media studies It is shaken from without by even greater pressures by economic exigency and the severe social attitudes that can follow from it by technological change that may leave the traditional forms of serious human communication looking merely antiquated For just these reasons this is the right time for renewal to start reinvigorated work into the meaning and value of literary reading We live in days no leaving them or choosing them What s in a day With their natural narrative arc they begin and they end and in between we talk about how they are going or wonder where they have gone They each have their small stories non stories ephemeral stories So every day slips by most days much like most other days We eat we sleep we go to work we endure enjoy continue Day after day day before day it is the recurring of no particular story in endless beginningless succession At the same time any single day is also a unique date with its multi digit identity its moment at last and never again of here and now today And on longer scales the slow small shifts of ordinary days and their surrounding stories will eventually remake the days that have been and gone as the times that are no more An ordinary day from decades let alone centuries ago must now be a once long passed away the old days to be regretted or to be revived in all the curiosity of their historical difference Everyday Stories makes us think again about the ordinary life we are in day after day and day by day always the same and always slightly changing Entering into the single day drawing out the stories that surround us this book goes into everyday stories of many descriptions old and new both in literature and in that story laden place and time we call real life

Occasional, Critical, and Political Writing James Joyce, 2000 This is a collection of Joyce s non fictional writing including newspaper articles reviews lectures and essays It covers 40 years of Joyce s life and maps important changes in his political and literary opinions

The Mark on the Wall and Other Short Fiction Virginia Woolf, 2001 I shall never forget the day I wrote The Mark on the Wall all in a flash as if flying after being kept stone breaking for months The Unwritten Novel was the great discovery however That again in one second showed me how I could embody all my deposit of experience in a shape that fitted it I saw branching out of the tunnel I made when I discovered that method of approach Jacob s Room Mrs Dalloway etc How I trembled with excitement The thrill Woolf got from these stories is readily apparent to the reader She wrote them in defiance of convention with a heady feeling of liberation and with a clear sense that she was breaking new ground Indeed if she had not made her bold and experimental forays into the short story in the period leading up to the publication of Jacob s Room 1922 it seems certain that her arrival as a great modernist novelist would have been delayed Quirky unrestrained disturbing and surprising many of these stories particularly the early ones are essential to an understanding of Woolf s development as a writer She thought some of her short fiction might be unprintable but happily she was mistaken

Incredible Modernism John Attridge, 2016-05-23 With the twentieth century came a new awareness of just how much an individual was obliged to accept on trust and this heightened awareness of social trust in turn prompted new kinds of anxiety about fraudulence and deception Beginning with the premise that the traditional liberal concept of trust as a bond of society entered a period of crisis around the turn of the twentieth century this collection examines the profound influence of this shift on a wide range of modernist writers including James Joyce Marcel Proust Gertrude Stein Ezra Pound Wyndham Lewis H D Ford Madox Ford Samuel Beckett Ralph Ellison and Wallace Stevens In examining the importance of trust and fraudulence during the period the contributors take up a diverse set of topics related to reception the institutions of modernism the history of authorship the nature of representation authenticity genre social order and politics Taken as a whole Incredible Modernism provides concrete historical coordinates for the study of twentieth century trust while also arguing that a problem of trust is central to the institutions and formal innovations of modernism itself
