Staursky defeats Flores in Brunswick ward 4 race

By GARY MCLENDARO

Brunswick — George Staursky won the Ward 4 seat Tuesday night in a stunning upset of the incumbent, Anthony Flores. The main issue of the campaign, so far as Staursky was concerned, was the record of Flores.

Staursky said Flores was ahead from too many council meetings and was not representing the ward properly.

a normal life and have this disorder I want to be open and honest about how this disorder affects me on a daily basis and how I make my marriage and parenting work even with the limitations it provides to me Once again I want to show others like me that they re not alone I ve been in their shoes when I ve been manic I understand the physical pain the cycle of depression brings This is not something to be ashamed of and it s something that can be treated if they let themselves get the help that is out there

Blinded by Hope Meg McGuire, 2025-07-30 One day a teenage boy gets on his bike and rides forty miles up California's Pacific Coast Highway to avoid causing an earthquake he fears will endanger his mother and sister But the quake he is experiencing is not coming from beneath the earth it's the onset of bipolar illness Blinded by Hope describes what it's like to have an unusually bright creative child and then to have that child suddenly be hit with an illness that defies description and cure Over the years McGuire attributes her son's lost jobs broken relationships legal troubles and periodic hospitalizations to the manic phase of his illness denying the severity of his growing drug use but ultimately she has to face her own addiction to rescuing him and to forge a path for herself toward acceptance resilience and love A wakeup call about the epidemic of mental illness substance abuse and mass incarceration in our society Blinded by Hope shines a light on the shadow of family dynamics that shame ignorance and stigma rarely let the public see and asks the question How does a mother cope when love is not enough

What if you always knew you were special and then one day you found that being special wasn't a good thing. In fact, it was very, very bad. I was a high school cross country track star on a full ride scholarship to the college of my choice when I was hit hard with the most severe form of bipolar disorder: manic depressive illness. Little did I know then that the only way my speed was going to help me was to escape from a maximum security mental institution. Bipolar. On one hand, the word is loaded with stigma. On the other, so many celebrities, star athletes, and other notable people have it that it's often used as a buzz word on the front pages of newspapers. The fact is, over 3% of people have bipolar disorder, and its onset almost always hits during the fragile teenage years. My lows took me to the depths of anxiety and pain. By comparison, my highs seemed magical, but how long can you live on 2 hours of sleep a night? My poor parents, fearing for me, and my safety hired bodyguards to try to protect me from myself and the predators who surrounded me. One stood by me throughout my long road to recovery. He's been my rock for 16 years, and my husband for 10. I am sharing my personal story, including my shocking extremes of behavior, to help other families understand what is happening to their loved ones. When my parents tried to understand what was happening to me, the only books they found were dry clinical accounts of sad, mad, lost people, not exactly encouraging words for a mom and dad desperately clutching at straws. Most people find it hard to believe what I experienced, how I managed to survive, and how I can be thriving now. My story proves that you can go away and come back again, and that no matter how bad things look, there is hope for a better future.

Speaking from Within Wanda Jean Bennett, 2011-10. I was diagnosed with Bipolar I when I was twenty-six. Every doctor I saw said the symptoms were begun playing out as early as my teen years. I have been hospitalized twenty-six times over the course of twenty-five years. I am now fifty-two years of age, and I am very much afflicted with my disease. I struggle daily with depression. The manic part of my illness rarely shows its face any more. My Bipolar has been a living hell. I have learned many coping skills, but at times it's just not enough. I started cutting in my twenties, but can look back in my teen years and see where self-harm displayed itself. There were times I pulled my hair out of frustration, there was sticking and scratching with straight pins and paper clips, which in my early years led to hot curling irons, glass razor blades. When things would overwhelm me, or when I would feel so numb because of depression, this would be when I would self-harm; it would give me a release from my pain. I found out that mental illness, Bipolar, Major Depression, and nerve problems went back three generations on my mother's side of the family, as it is a genetic disorder. Most of my journal writing became more expressive through poetry, the majority of which was written during my dark times. When the darkness of depression falls upon you, all the fears of your emotions come pouring out. I don't want to belittle my family any more than I have to. Just remember, the feelings I talk about in my poetry came through a child's eye, and a child wounded by things she did not understand. These are my emotions as I felt them. Parents, that's why you should be careful with the environment you raise your children in; they see and hear more than you think, with very little understanding. After a while, they will stuff their fears in what can be harmful ways.
