Edge Of Empire Conquest And Collecting On The Eastern Frontiers Of The British Empire:

Edge of Empire Maya Jasanoff, 2006 A mansion filled with Western art in the center of old Calcutta the Mughal emperor's letters in an archive in the French Alps the names of Italian adventurers scratched into the walls of Egyptian temples In this book Jasanoff delves into the stories behind vestiges such as these to uncover the lives of people who lived on the frontiers of the British Empire during a pivotal century of its formation She traces the exploits of collectors to tell an intimate history of imperialism offering a fresh account of European imperialism that challenges received wisdom about how imperial power was asserted in Asia and the Middle East This book enters a world where people lived loved mingled and identified with one another in ways richer and more complex than we might have believed possible From publisher description Edge of Empire: Conquest and Collecting in the East 1750-1850 Maya Jasanoff, 2009-09-17 Talented historian Maya Jasanoff offers an alternative history of the British Empire It is not about conquest but rather a collection of startling and fascinating personal accounts of cross cultural exchange from those who found themselves on the edges of Empire Women, Collecting, and Cultures Beyond Europe Arlene Leis, 2022-11-04 This book examines collecting around the world and how women have participated in and formed collections globally The edited volume builds on recent research and offers a wider lens through which to examine and challenge women's collecting histories Spanning from the seventeenth century to the twenty first although not organized chronologically the research herein extends beyond European geographies and across time periods it brings to light new research on how artificialia and naturalia were collected transported exchanged and or displayed beyond Europe Women Collecting and Cultures Beyond Europe considers collections as points of contact that forged transcultural connections and knowledge exchange Some authors focus mainly on collectors and what was collected while others consider taxonomies travel patterns of consumption migration markets and the after life of things In its broad and interdisciplinary approach this book amplifies women's voices and aims to position their collecting practices toward new transcultural directions including women's relation to distinct cultures customs and beliefs as well as exposing the challenges women faced when carving a place for themselves within global networks This study will be of interest to scholars working in collections and collecting conservation museum studies art history women's studies material and visual cultures Indigenous studies textile histories global studies history of science social and cultural histories Edge of Empire Maya Jasanoff, 2005 A mansion filled with Western art in the center of old Calcutta the Mughal emperor's letters in an archive in the French Alps the names of Italian adventurers scratched into the walls of Egyptian temples In this book Jasanoff delves into the stories behind vestiges such as these to uncover the lives of people who lived on the frontiers of the British Empire during a pivotal century of its formation She traces the exploits of collectors to tell an intimate history of imperialism offering a fresh account of European imperialism that challenges received wisdom about how imperial power was asserted in Asia and the Middle East This book enters a world where people lived loved mingled and identified with one another in ways richer and more complex than we might have believed possible From publisher description Art and War in the Pacific World J.M. Mancini,2018-04-03 Recent years have witnessed a surge in interest the Pacific world as a hub for the global trade in art objects Yet the history of art and architecture has seldom reckoned with another profound aspect of the region s history its exposure to global conflict Art and War in the Pacific World provides a new view of the Pacific world and of global artistic interaction by exploring how the making alteration looting and destruction of images objects buildings and landscapes intersected with the exercise of force during the British and U S military incursions of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Provided by publisher Britain's Oceanic Empire H. V. Bowen,Elizabeth Mancke,John G. Reid,2012-05-31 A comparative study of how the British managed the expansion of empire in the Atlantic and Indian Ocean De-Illustrating the History of the British Empire Annamaria Motrescu-Mayes,2021-05-24 De Illustrating the History of the British Empire aims to offer a timely and inclusive contribution to the evolving cross disciplinary scholarship that connects visual studies with British imperial historiography The key purpose of this book is to introduce scholars and students of British imperial and Commonwealth history to a clearly presented and diversely themed evaluation of several visual manuscripts images of all genres depicting particular events personalities social and cultural contexts that document the development of some of the British imperial and post colonial visual literacies history The concept of visual manuscripts alongside theories of visual anthropology and memory studies are addressed across the entire volume thus allowing the readers to approach with greater ease the discourse on imperial iconography and historiography Europe and Asia beyond East and West Gerard Delanty,2006-10-03 This major new book tackles key questions on Europe in the context of shifting parameters of East and West The contributors sociologists anthropologists philosophers and historians show from a variety of different perspectives that the conventional equation of Europe with the West must be questioned Featuring four thematically organized chapters the book looks at a post Western world Asia in Europe encounters in history between Europe and Asia otherness in Europe and Asia Exploring new expressions of European self understanding in a way that challenges recent ideological notions of the clash of civilizations this outstanding work draws on recent scholarship that shows how Europe and Asia were mutually linked in history and in contemporary perspective It argues that as a result of current developments and the changing geopolitical context both Europe and Asia have much in common and that it is possible to speak of cosmopolitan links rather than clashes This book will be of great value to students and researchers in the fields of sociology European politics and history and cultural theory That Sweet Enemy Robert Tombs,Isabelle Tombs,2009-06-17 That Sweet Enemy brings both British wit Robert Tombs is a British historian and French panache Isabelle Tombs is a French historian to bear on three centuries of the history of Britain and France From Waterloo to Chirac s slandering of British cooking the authors chart this cross channel entanglement and the unparalleled breadth of cultural economic and political influence it has wrought on both sides illuminating the complex and sometimes contradictory aspects of this relationship rivalry enmity and misapprehension mixed with envy admiration and genuine affection and the myriad ways it has shaped the modern world Written with wit and elegance and illustrated with delightful images and cartoons from both sides of the Channel That Sweet Enemy is a unique and immensely enjoyable history destined to become a classic Adventures in Aidland David Mosse,2011-04-01

Anthropological interest in new subjects of research and contemporary knowledge practices has turned ethnographic attention to a wide ranging variety of professional fields Among these the encounter with international development has perhaps been longer and more intimate than any of the others Anthropologists have drawn critical attention to the interfaces and social effects of development s discursive regimes but oddly enough have paid scant attention to knowledge producers themselves despite anthropologists being among them This is the focus of this volume It concerns the construction and transmission of knowledge about global poverty and its reduction but is equally interested in the social life of development professionals in the capacity of ideas to mediate relationships in networks of experts and communities of aid workers and in the dilemmas of maintaining professional identities Going well beyond obsolete debates about pure and applied anthropology the book examines the transformations that occur as social scientific concepts and practices cross and re cross the boundary between anthropological and policy making knowledge Empire and mobility in the long nineteenth century David

Lambert,Peter Merriman,2020-06-08 Mobility was central to imperialism from the human movements entailed in exploration travel and migration to the information communications and commodity flows vital to trade science governance and military power While historians have written on exploration commerce imperial transport and communications networks and the movements of slaves soldiers and scientists few have reflected upon the social cultural economic and political significance of mobile practices subjects and infrastructures that underpin imperial networks or examined the qualities of movement valued by imperial powers and agents at different times This collection explores the intersection of debates on imperial relations colonialism and empire with emerging work on mobility In doing this it traces how the movements of people representations and commodities helped to constitute the British empire from the late eighteenth century through to the Second World War

Forgotten Voices of the British Empire Carol Ann Boshier,2022-02-16 This study investigates the contribution made by outsiders in accumulating knowledge from the days of the East India Company until the early twentieth century when photography became an important tool for recording information It focuses on heterogeneous voices on the periphery who interacted with the indigenous population to produce knowledge in original or unexpected ways that extended beyond the limits prescribed by the term colonial Largely unrecognized today their endeavors to satisfy their own intellectual curiosity or improve their material circumstances produced a perspective on colonial life that stripped away conventions where their ordinary everyday experiences sometimes became extraordinary as they forged new networks throughout the subcontinent and beyond its frontiers Their journeys and experiences offer a discursive historical construct as significant as official reports censuses and surveys and contribute towards our understanding of the diverse creative processes through which intellectual histories of the colonial state were constructed Reading Leslie Marmon Silko Laura Coltelli, 2007 Leslie Marmon Silko Laguna b 1949 has long been a significant contributor to modern American Indian literature In this landmark volume leading scholars from Europe and North America assess her career and growing legacy focusing especially on her visionary novel Gardens in the Dunes Topics include the power of modern resistance indigenous feminism the role of history the effects of European culture and history on her work and the force of storytelling and nonlinear narration These essays variously and insightfully illuminate the work and life of a remarkable Native writer in the twenty first century The British Consular Service in the Aegean and the Collection of Antiquities for the British Museum Lucia Patrizio Gunning, 2016-12-05 The book tells the story of how the British consular service in the Aegean in the years of the British protectorate of the Ionian Islands 1815 1864 became an agency for the retrieval excavation and collection of antiquities eventually destined for the British Museum Exploring the historical political and diplomatic circumstances that allowed the consular service to develop from a chartered company into a state run institution under the direction of the Foreign Office it provides a unique perspective on the intersection of state policy private ambition and the collecting of antiquities Drawing extensively on consular correspondence the study sets out several challenges to current views For those interested in the history of travel in the Levant or more generally in the Grand Tour the book presents an alternative point of view that challenges the travellers descriptions of the region The book also intersects with British diplomatic history providing an insight into the consuls in both their official and private circumstances and comparing their situation under the Levant Company with that of the Foreign Office run consular service The complex political situation in the Aegean at the time of the take over of the service is examined along with the political and commercial roles of the consuls their daily dealings with the Greeks and Ionians and also with the Ottoman authorities Through private correspondence it shows how the consuls reflected the belief that Greek Egyptian Babylonian Roman and other antiquities would be better looked after in a British French German or American museum than by the people and in the countries they were created for In particular the book illuminates the public private nature of the consuls role the way they worked with but independently of government and it reveals how Britain was able to acquire major pieces of sculpture from the nineteenth century Aegean Britain's Empire Richard Gott, 2022-01-04 A magisterial history of resistance to the rising of the British empire As the call for a new understanding of our national history grows louder Britain s Empire turns the received imperial story on its head Richard Gott recounts the long overlooked narrative of resisters revolutionaries and revolters who stood up to the might of the Empire In a story of almost continuous colonialist violence Britain s crimes unspool from the beginning of the eighteenth century to the Indian Mutiny spanning the globe from Ireland to Australia Capturing events from the perspective of the colonised Gott unearths the all but forgotten stories excluded from mainstream histories Medieval India 2 Iqtidar Husain Siddiqi, Shahabuddin Iraqi, 2008 The volume has twenty essays contributed by scholars associated with the Centre of Advanced Study History Aligarh Muslim University as well as those who belong to other institutions in the country The concluding section of the volume consists of five reviews of recent books on medieval Indian history Crossing The Strait James Brown, 2012-04-19 Using new archival evidence this book examines the links between Morocco and Gibraltar focusing on the period around 1750 1850 It shows how these connections challenge existing assumptions about the perceived division between opposite sides of the Strait of Gibraltar

New Statesman ,2007 British Humanities Index ,2006 The Brokered World Simon Schaffer, 2009 Collection of essays focusing on the roles of intermediaries such as brokers and spies messengers and translators missionaries and entrepreneurs in linking different parts of the ever more densely entangled systems of knowledge production and circulation at a key moment in the development of global scientific commercial and political systems The period 1770 1820 was decisive for the reformation of imperial projects in the wake of military catastrophe and politico economic crisis both in the Atlantic and the Asian Pacific spheres economic and political worlds dominated by complex trade systems and violent contest This conjuncture also saw the overhaul of networks and institutions of natural knowledge whether commercial voluntary or organs of state Both the industrial and the second scientific revolutions have been dated to this moment New and decisive relations were forged between different cultures knowledge carriers The authors consider knowledge movements of the epoch that escape simple models of metropolitan centre and remote colonial periphery They question the immutable character of mediators and agents in knowledge communication
