through feeling and what we can know and feel through the artistic work of Black women Feeling is not feelin As the poet artist and scholar Bettina Judd argues feelin in African American Vernacular English is how Black women artists approach and produce knowledge as sensation internal and complex entangled with pleasure pain anger and joy and manifesting artistic production itself as the meaning of the work Through interviews close readings and archival research Judd draws on the fields of affect studies and Black studies to analyze the creative processes and contributions of Black women from poet Lucille Clifton and musician Avery Sunshine to visual artists Betye Saar Joyce J Scott and Deana Lawson Feelin Creative Practice Pleasure and Black Feminist Thought makes a bold and vital intervention in critical theory's trend toward disembodied feeling as knowledge Instead Judd revitalizes current debates in Black studies about the concept of the human and about Black life by considering how discourses on emotion as they are explored by Black women artists offer alternatives to the concept of the human Judd expands the notions of Black women's pleasure politics in Black feminist studies that include the erotic the sexual the painful the joyful the shameful and the sensations and emotions that yet have no name In its richly multidisciplinary approach Feelin calls for the development of research methods that acknowledge creative and emotionally rigorous work as productive by incorporating visual art narrative and poetry
