Connecting Reading & Writing in Second Language Writing Instruction Alan Hirvela,2004-08-20 Academic writing often requires students to incorporate material from outside sources like statistics ideas quotations paraphrases into their own written texts a particular obstacle for students who lack strong reading skills In Connecting Reading and Writing in Second Language Instruction Alan Hirvela contends that second language writing students should be considered as readers first and advocates the integration of reading and writing instruction with a survey of theory research and pedagogy in the subject area Although the integrated reading writing model has gained popularity in recent years many teachers have little more than an intuitive sense of the connections between these skills As part of the popular Michigan Series on Teaching Multilingual Writers Connecting Reading and Writing in Second Language Instruction will provide invaluable background knowledge on this issue to ESL teachers in training as well as teachers who are already practicing

Conversations of the Mind Rebecca William Mlynarczyk, 2013-10-18 Asking students to write journals that reflect on their learning has become a widespread pedagogical practice in recent years However the scholarly literature does not address certain key questions about how journal writing aids learning Is there something inherent in journal writing that encourages students to write reflectively What psycholinguistic or cognitive factors help to explain the power of journal writing Why do some students use journals to write prolifically and creatively while others limit their responses to summarizing the assigned course reading Why do teachers find some journal entries so much more engaging than others How do teachers ways of responding to journals affect their students development as writers and thinkers This book addresses such questions through a careful analysis of the journal writing of the students in the author s ESL classes at a large urban college It contains detailed case studies of five culturally and linguistically diverse students with widely differing responses to journal writing To teachers of composition for both first and second language students and to teachers of graduate courses in education and qualitative research this book offers a contextualized description of journal writings as a complex social activity By emphasizing the need for educators to reexamine their pedagogy and to learn from their students Conversations of the Mind is an indispensable contribution to the emerging literature of teacher research and reflective practice

Практичний курс англійської мови. Зарума О. Р. та ін., Landscape, Place and Culture Deb Narayan Bandyopadhyay, Paul Brown, 2011-01-18 This collection of essays takes an interdisciplinary approach to the ecological social economic and in particular the cultural dimensions of the Australia India relationship The essays provide many levels of focus on environment place and culture Some evoke appreciation of particular places either in India or Australia Many explore how literature has treated landscape while some are comparative studies of cultural historical and political development The essays arise from a particular gathering of scholars The East India chapter of the Indian Association for the Study of Australia IASA held its inaugural international conference in Kolkata on 22 23 January 2009 Much of the work is comparative exploring common Indian and Australian themes of colonial and postcolonial experience implications of migration and diaspora and shared language and literature The work also explores shared environmental crisis manifest in landscapes such as the Mouths of the Ganges and Australia's Murray Darling Basin Such comparisons indicate our shared experience of the crisis of ecological social economic and cultural sustainability As human future is colonized through environmental degradation and determined by human migration and shared culture and values our relationship to place is revitalized and reassessed We seek simultaneously a reconciliation between humans and a realignment of the human nature relationship This is the most basic meaning of social and ecological sustainability
