petitions sent by those condemned for serious crimes to monarchs and princes in France and the Low Countries in the hopes of receiving a full pardon The fifteenth century Burgundian Low Countries and duchy of Burgundy produced a large cache of these petitions from both major cities Bruges Ghent Antwerp and Dijon and rural communities In Honor Vengeance and Social Trouble Peter Arnade and Walter Prevenier present the first study in English of these letters to explore and interrogate the boundaries between these sources internal discursive properties and the social world beyond the written text Honor Vengeance and Social Trouble takes the reader out onto the streets and into the taverns homes and workplaces of the Burgundian territories charting the most pressing social concerns of the day everything from family disputes and vendettas to marital infidelity and property conflicts and more generally the problems of public violence abduction and rape and the role of honor and revenge in adjudicating disputes Arnade and Prevenier examine why the right to pardon was often enacted by the Burgundian dukes and how it came to compete with more traditional legal means of resolving disputes In addition they consider the pardon letter as a historical source highlighting the limitations and pitfalls of relying on documents that are by their very nature narratives shaped by the petitioner to seek a favored outcome The book also includes a detailed case study of a female actress turned prostitute An example of microhistory at its best Honor Vengeance and Social Trouble will challenge scholars while being accessible to students in courses on medieval and early modern Europe or on historiography
