Health And The Construction Of The Individual:

Health and the Construction of the Individual Jane Ogden, 2023-05-26 How do social scientists create facts What strategies do they use to construct knowledge How does social science make sense of the individual Critical studies of both medical and scientific knowledge have been conducted but social science knowledge remains relatively unquestioned Addressing this question Health and the Construction of the Individual originally published in 2002 is a social study of social science Jane Ogden focuses particularly on constructions of the individual in health related psychology and sociology She explores how social science texts construct social science facts using the strategies of theory methodology measurement and rhetorical boundaries and argues that the individual is not only constructed through the dissemination of social science knowledge but through the mechanics of its production The results provide a unique insight into the transformation of the individual as an ever changing self from both a historical and social constructionist perspective This title will make fascinating reading for health psychologists medical sociologists social constructionists and all students and researchers interested in gaining a greater understanding of the premises underlying social science The Construction of Social Health Systems João Costa, 2025-09-30 Despite governmental and international funding as well as numerous publications on health systems questions remain João Costa offers new insight into health systems thinking by emphasizing the social nature of health systems He traces health systems back to their origins in Ancient Greece and investigates their development throughout history focusing on the notion of systems self reference a constitutive feature of social systems The study is built on Luhmann's Social Systems Theory and his outline of health as social system Valuable for health professionals it discusses communication as lifeblood for making health systems self referential Research Handbook on Work and Well-Being Ronald J. Burke, Kathryn M. Page, 2017-02-24 Almost every person works at some point in their lives The Research Handbook on Work and Well Being examines the association of particular work experiences with employee and organizational health and performance Understanding the Construction Client David Boyd, Ezekiel Chinyio, 2008-04-15 This book breaks new ground by creating a framework to understand clients actions and needs Most construction management books focus on improving the construction process this one focuses on a better engagement with the client It challenges conceptions of both the construction industry and clients businesses so that a more effective process and greater client satisfaction can be achieved The book suggests that buildings are not about building but about changing and developing the client The technical organisational and psychological aspects of this are described and analysed in detail so that current experience can be explained and better practice determined The book offers well researched information about clients in a number of sectors developers supermarkets NHS government airports and housing associations which will help you understand what these clients business or service needs are and how construction fits into this It demonstrates how to develop an appreciation of the clients perspective with a toolkit for ensuring successful client engagement This makes Understanding the Construction

Client a user friendly and practical guide as well as significant text for academia Gender and the Social Construction of Illness Judith Lorber, Lisa Jean Moore, 2002-08-15 In this text the authors consider the interface between gender as a social institution on one hand and Western medicine as a social institution on the other and analyses issues of power and politics which pervade the study of both topics Hospital Survey and Construction Act with Amendments United States, 1981 Construction and Operation of New U.S. Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases (USAMRIID) Facilities and Decommissioning and Demolition And/or Reuse of Existing USAMRIID Facilities at Fort Detrick , 2007 The Social Construction of Community Care Anthea Symonds, Anne Kelly, 1998-11-11 This book represents a new development in the discussion of community care policies with its integrated approach addressed to both community nurses and social workers It includes contributions from practitioners in both fields as well as lecturers and researchers in sociology and social policy The overall theme of the book is the concept of community as a social and cultural construction The authors begin with an account of the historical construction of community care followed by explorations of the actual practice of the delivery of care and of the needs of particular groups within the community Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance , 1987 Identifies and describes specific government assistance opportunities such as loans grants counseling and procurement contracts available under many agencies and programs A Manual for the Evaluation of a State Drinking Water Supply Program James E.
