Why is dessert wine different?

Dessert wine is different from regular wine because of the sugar level and the alcohol level. These levels can be increased in a few different ways. Sometimes grapes are dried, which concentrates the sugar. Other times, yeast is added to the wine, which produces more alcohol. Finally, winemakers can remove water to concentrate the sugar, usually by air drying or freezing the grapes.

demonstrates how that culture is in the process of being transformed Wine drinking culture in France has traditionally been a source of pride for the French and in an age of concerns about the dangers of binge drinking a major cause of jealousy for the British Wine drinking and the culture associated with it are for many an essential part of what it means to be French but they are also part of a national construction Described by some as a national product or as a totem drink wine and its attendant cultures supposedly characterise Frenchness in much the same way as being born in France fighting for liberty or speaking French Yet this traditional picture is now being challenged by economic social and political forces that have transformed consumption patterns and led to the fragmentation of wine drinking culture The aim of this book is to provide an original account of the various causes of the long term decline in alcohol consumption and of the emergence of a new wine drinking culture since the 1970s and to analyse its relationship to national and regional identity
