He Kete He Korero Every Kete Has A Story

Tim Thomas

He Kete He Korero Every Kete Has A Story:

Whare Korero Gavin McLean, 2007 I doubt people of my age would have grown up with such a strong sense of New Zealandness if it hadn't been for Reed Books publication by Reeds was a source of great pride historian Michael King believed For generations of Kiwis a raupo on the spine of a book has been as much a part of living in New Zealand as quarter acre sections hokey pokey ice cream or jandals In this eclectic sampling historian Gavin McLean blows the dust from New Zealand publishing's greatest backlist to serve up more than 80 selections from the Reed vault The iconic writers Herbert Guthrie-Smith Janet Frame Barry Crump Denis Glover Frank Sargeson Peter Wells Witi Ihimaera rub shoulders with the forgotten C R Allen F W G Miller Peter Newton Ruth Gilbert There's light relief from Pat Lawlor Mary Scott Helen Brown Bob Jones and Richard Hadlee and searing gritty writing from R A K Mason Mary Findlay Bill Payne and David Brown We look back at tumultuous events wars shipwrecks the 1981 Springbok tour examine social issues such as juvenile delinquency bodgies and gangs explore Maori culture popular music and even sample the odd recipe As Whare Korero shows Reed is the voice of New Zealand Theory in the Pacific, the Pacific in Theory Tim Thomas, 2020-07-27 Theory in the Pacific the Pacific in Theory explores the role of theory in Pacific archaeology and its interplay with archaeological theory worldwide The contributors assess how the practice of archaeology in Pacific contexts has led to particular types of theoretical enquiry and interest and more broadly how the Pacific is conceptualised in the archaeological imagination Long seen as a laboratory environment for the testing and refinement of social theory the Pacific islands occupy a central place in global theoretical discourse This volume highlights this role through an exploration of how Pacific models and exemplars have shaped and continue to shape approaches to the archaeological past The authors evaluate key theoretical perspectives and explore current and future directions in Pacific archaeology In doing so attention is paid to the influence of Pacific people and environments in motivating and shaping theory building Theory in the Pacific the Pacific in Theory makes a significant contribution to our understanding of how theory develops attuned to the affordances and needs of specific contexts and how those contexts promote reformulation and development of theory elsewhere It will be fascinating to scholars and archaeologists interested in the Pacific region as well as students of wider archaeological theory American Book Publishing Record, 2005 He Kete He Korero Toi Te Rito Maihi, Maureen Lander, 2008-05-27 Every kete has a story This collection is drawn from the rich store of information and memories associated with kete these much loved but often overlooked baskets of knowledge Some stories are short others grow with the telling All are told with warmth humour and humility giving us insight into how the humble kete so often helps to establish ongoing friendships and relationships Some stories are told by the kete makers They tell about the process of weaving a kete learning the techniques gathering and preparing the materials then bringing everything together in the designing and making of the kete Others are related by people whose kete have been passed on to them by family members friends noted weavers or even strangers These kete have come to be treasured by their owners as taonga imbued with the memories they carry Their stories are often poignant bringing back glimpses of earlier times and people who are no longer with us The Story of Old Wairoa and the East Coast District, North Island, New Zealand; Or, Past, Present, and Future Thomas Lambert,1925 Maori Oral Tradition Jane McRae,2017-03-20 Maori oral tradition is the rich poetic record of the past handed down by voice over generations through whakapapa whakatauki korero and waiata In genealogies and sayings histories stories and songs Maori tell of te ao tawhito or the old world the gods the migration of the Polynesian ancestors from Hawaiki and life here in Aotearoa A voice from the past today this remarkable record underpins the speeches songs and prayers performed on marae and the teaching of tribal genealogies and histories Indeed the oral tradition underpins Maori culture itself This book introduces readers to the distinctive oral style and language of the traditional compositions acknowledges the skills of the composers of old and explores the meaning of their striking imagery and figurative language And it shows how nga korero tuku iho the inherited words can be a deep well of knowledge about the way of life wisdom and thinking of the Maori ancestors Maori and the written word Bradford Haami,2004 Presents a history of Ngati Hikata through the writings of seven Maori people spanning four generations of the Maaka family Included are genealogies traditional histories and personal documents written in Maori and in English that date from 1848 to 1978 Ranging from pepeha and waiata to the bleakly beautiful diaries of a mutton birder the documents collected in this book are a rare and intriguing window into the real lives of their authors This valuable reference work also shows how to safegaurd and share ancestors precious work for the future Return to Sender Wira Gardiner,1996 The Maori and the Criminal Justice System Moana Jackson,1987 The Adventures of Kimble Bent James Cowan,1911 Broadsheet Wendy Harrex,1992 At head of title Been around for quite a while Spine subtitle Twenty years
