seated human need to belong and enjoy purpose and community After their six years in Nepal Naomi Reed and her husband Darren and their three sons returned from Nepal to Australia and struggled with identity and disorientation In this Naomi s fifth book she shares her story honestly and openly allowing the narrative to lead the reader into prayer and reflection By the end of it you will feel a deeper and more profound understanding of what it means to belong to God and hope for heaven

Going Home Raja Shehadeh, 2020-03-10 Winner Moore Prize for Human Rights Writing In a dazzling mix of reportage analysis and memoir the leading Palestinian writer of our time reflects on aging failure the occupation and the changing face of Ramallah Few Palestinians have opened their minds and their hearts with such frankness The New York Times In Going Home Raja Shehadeh the Orwell Prize winning author of Palestinian Walks takes us on a series of journeys around his hometown of Ramallah Set in a single day the day that happens to be the fiftieth anniversary of Israel s occupation of the West Bank the book is a powerful and moving record and chronicle of the changing face of his city Here is a city whose green spaces gardens and hills crowned with olive trees have been replaced by tower blocks and concrete lots where the Israeli occupation has further entrenched itself in every aspect of movement from the roads that can and cannot be used to the bureaucratic barriers that prevent people leaving the West Bank Here also is a city that is culturally shifting where Islam is taking a more prominent role in people s everyday and political lives and in the geography of the city A penetrating evocation of memory pain and place that is lightened by everyday joys such as delightful accounts of shared meals and gardening Going Home is perhaps Raja Shehadeh s most moving and painfully visceral addition to his series of personal histories of the occupation confirming Rachel Kushner s judgment that Shehadeh is a buoy in a sea of bleakness Going Home Robert P.
