Edith Wharton Abroad Selected Travel Writings 1880 1920:

Edith Wharton Abroad Edith Wharton, Sarah Bird Wright, 1997-06-30 Edith Wharton's seven works of travel have been called brilliantly written and permanently interesting. For the first time excerpts from each of these works have been made available to the general reader in a single volume. The collection spans a period of three decades from the time of leisurely travel by chartered steam yacht, diligence, railway and motor car during the belle époque through the horror and pathos of the French landscape during World War I to the Morocco of 1917, a country previously forbidden to most women and foreigners. Scornful of guidebooks, Edith Wharton focused instead on the parentheses of travel, the undiscovered byways of Europe, Morocco and the Mediterranean. Among the sites she describes are the towns of Tirano, Brescia, Poitiers and Chauvigny, the gardens of the Villa Caprarola and the Villa Aldobrandini, Frascati, Hippone and Goletta. Her account of Mount Athos in Greece, written in the recently discovered diary of her 1888 Mediterranean cruise, may be the first ever by an American. An intrepid reporter, she also depicts the front lines of Lorraine and the Vosges during World War I. She describes art, architecture, sculpture and landscape with the eye of a knowledgeable connoisseur and the sensitivity of an observant and imaginative novelist. Open to all experiences, she is a voracious intellectual wanderer who often interprets the sights she sees in the light of the extensive historic literary and classical reading begun in her youth.

Edith Wharton Abroad Edith Wharton, 1996-08-15 These carefully chosen selections from Edith Wharton's travel writing convey the writer's control of her craft. Wharton disliked the generality of guidebooks and focused instead on the parentheses of travel, the undiscovered hidden corners of Europe, Morocco and the Mediterranean. Included is an excerpt from Wharton's unpublished memoir The Cruise of Vanadis as well as front-line depictions of Lorraine and the Vosges during World War I. Photos

Apart from Modernism Robin Peel, 2005 The study emphasizes the crucial role that Wharton's contact with Europe had on her writing and the significance, intellectually and politically, of her relationship with Morton Fullerton and her reading of his books on politics. It locates Wharton in her period, surrounded as she was by discourses which called for political and social change, change which an outlook that Peel calls American Toryism made her reluctant to embrace. Her love of motorcars and her excitement about other technological developments such as aeroplanes was inspired by a feeling of exclusivity and not the democratization of culture which she feared and condemned. France, England, Italy and America formed the quartet of countries that contained the best and worst of culture, and Peel emphasizes how ironical it was that a writer whose ideological beliefs endorsed the importance of home roots and tradition should have spent so much of her life as a restless, apparently rootless traveler.

BOOK JACKET The Cambridge Companion to American Travel Writing Alfred Bendixen, Judith Hamera, 2009-01-29 Travel writing has always been intimately linked with the construction of American identity. Occupying the space between fact and fiction, it exposes cultural fault lines and reveals the changing desires and anxieties of both the traveller and the reading public. These specially commissioned essays trace the journeys taken by writers from the pre-revolutionary period right up to the present They examine a wide range of responses to the problems posed by landscapes found both at home and abroad from the Mississippi and the Southwest to Europe and the Holy Land Throughout the contributors focus on the role played by travel writing in the definition and formulation of national identity and consider the experiences of minority writers as well as canonical authors This Companion forms an invaluable guide for students approaching this new important and exciting subject for the first time
