Structural Racism

Stephen Menendian,2025-06-30 This book explains how racial inequality in the United States is produced and perpetuated and what should be done about it It develops the elusive concept of structural racism presenting a precise definition that is clear and comprehensible and illustrates how it operates methodically and rigorously Many other books are long on problems and short on solutions whereas this book develops the key principles that must ground a structural reform agenda and then presents a broad ranging set of interventions organized around ten themes that will reduce racial disparities while expanding opportunity for all Unlike most books on race which focus on a particular issue or sector this book is comprehensive in its scope encompassing the vital systems that shape racial inequality in contemporary American society from education and public schools to income and wealth disparities to housing and health care to policing and the criminal justice system As such this book is the ideal text for readers seeking to learn more about structural racial inequality in society how it came to be that way and what we should do about it while deepening our understanding and challenging many misguided or simplistic prevailing notions In a time of backlash to racial justice and growing doubts about racial equity initiatives this book is a timely and necessary entry A must read for advocates students policymakers and researchers alike

Race and Racism in the United States

Charles A. Gallagher, Cameron D. Lippard, 2014-06-24 How is race defined and perceived in America today and how do these definitions and perceptions compare to attitudes 100 years ago or 200 years ago This four volume set is the definitive source for every topic related to race in the United States In the 21st century it is easy for some students and readers to believe that racism is a thing of the past in reality old wounds have yet to heal and new forms of racism are taking shape Racism has played a role in American society since the founding of the nation in spite of the words all men are created equal within the Declaration of Independence This set is the largest and most complete of its kind covering every facet of race relations in the United States while providing information in a user friendly format that allows easy cross referencing of related topics for efficient research and learning The work serves as an accessible tool for high school researchers provides important material for undergraduate students enrolled in a variety of humanities and social sciences courses and is an outstanding ready reference for race scholars The entries provide readers with comprehensive content supplemented by historical backgrounds relevant examples from primary documents and first hand accounts Information is presented to interest and appeal to readers but also to support critical inquiry and understanding A fourth volume of related primary documents supplies additional reading and resources for research

Race, Intelligence and Bias in Academe Roger Pearson, 1997 This book documents efforts in American academe and the media to suppress research into the important role played by race and heredity in determining intelligence and other vital human qualities It presents scientific evidence of the significance of heredity and details how well known scholars have been intimidated from speaking the truth It provides concrete evidence of media distortion and reveals the Marxist orientation of scholars who have persistently attempted to deny the importance of genetic differences in Humankind Contents include Hans J Eysenck Science and Racism Science and Heredity from Francis Galton and Karl Pearson to World War II The Legacy of Marx Mannheim and Lysenko Scientific Luddites and Neo Lysenkoists The Anti science Views of Gould Lewontin Kamin and Marxist Student Organizations The Persecution of Scholars who Investigate Race Differences Arthur Jensen of Berkeley Nobel Laureate and co inventor of the transistor William Shockley Guggenheim Fellow J Philippe Rushton E O Wilson R J Herrnstein M Levin L Gottfredson and Seymour Itzkoff The Bell Curve Activist Lysenkoism in Academe the Media and Public Policy Conclusion The Influence of Heredity on Human Personality as Confirmed by the findings of the Minnesota Twin and Adoption Research and the Human Genome Project

Color in the Classroom Zoe Burkholder, 2011-10-05 Between the turn of the twentieth century and the Brown v Board of Education decision in 1954 the way that American schools taught about race changed dramatically This transformation was engineered by the nation s most prominent anthropologists including Franz Boas Ruth Benedict and Margaret Mead during World War II Inspired by scientific racism in Nazi Germany these activist scholars decided that the best way to fight racial prejudice was to teach what they saw as the truth about race in the institution that had the power to do the most good American schools Anthropologists created lesson plans lectures courses and pamphlets designed to revise what they called the race concept in American education They believed that if teachers presented race in scientific and egalitarian terms conveying human diversity as learned habits of culture rather than innate characteristics American citizens would become less racist Although nearly forgotten today this educational reform movement represents an important component of early civil rights activism that emerged alongside the domestic and global tensions of wartime Drawing on hundreds of first hand accounts written by teachers nationwide Zoe Burkholder traces the influence of this anthropological activism on the way that teachers understood spoke and taught about race She explains how and why teachers readily understood certain theoretical concepts such as the division of race into three main categories while they struggled to make sense of more complex models of cultural diversity and structural inequality As they translated theories into practice teachers crafted an educational discourse on race that differed significantly from the definition of race produced by scientists at mid century Schoolteachers and their approach to race were put into the spotlight with the Brown v Board of Education case but the belief that racially integrated schools would eradicate racism in the next generation and eliminate the need for discussion of racial inequality long predated this Discussions of race in the classroom were silenced during the early Cold War until a new generation of antiracist multicultural educators emerged in the 1970s

The Fractured Schoolhouse Neal P. McCluskey, 2022-09-15

American public schooling was established to unify diverse people and prepare citizens for democracy Intuitively it would teach diverse people the same values preferably in the same buildings with the goal that they will learn to get along and uphold government by the people But intuition can be wrong significant evidence suggests that public schools have not brought diverse people together whether from legally mandated racial segregation espousing values many people could not accept or human beings simply tending to associate with others like themselves Indeed the basic reality that people have diverse values and desires has rendered public schooling not a unifying force but a battleground That public schooling is necessary for democracy is also not supported both because we do not have a commonly agreed upon definition of democracy and because public schooling violates the bedrock American value liberty that democracy is supposed to protect

The Fractured Schoolhouse Reexamining Education for a Free Equal and Harmonious Society proposes that to fulfill the mission of public schooling we need what some might call its opposite school choice Education grounded in liberty would enable diverse people to pursue curricula and policies they think are right without having to impose them on others and by making separated groups equals and easing the creation of new identities it would foster bridge building
