Education and Values in Developing Nations John Oxenham, 1989      Technical Education and Vocational Training in Developing Nations Okolie, Ugochukwu Chinonso, Yasin, Asfa M., 2017-01-31 Severe economic depression and the difficulty to acquire employment with adequate income have significant impact on a nation's social welfare. The need to provide ample educational opportunities is more imperative than ever particularly in emerging economies. Technical Education and Vocational Training in Developing Nations is a comprehensive reference source for the latest literature on optimizing the implementation of curriculum development and instructional design strategies for technical and vocational education. Featuring innovative coverage across a range of relevant topics such as curriculum deficiency, teacher competencies and accessible learning, this book is ideally designed for policy makers, academicians, researchers, advanced level students, technology developers and educators interested in the improvement of professional learning programs.      Education and Individual Modernity in Developing Countries Inkeles, Holsinger, 2022-03-28      The Progressive Education Fallacy in Developing Countries Gerard Guthrie, 2011-06-23 This book provides a provocative but carefully argued addition to the theory and practice of education in developing countries. The book provides an ethical and empirical justification for support of formalistic teaching in primary and secondary schools in developing countries. It also refutes the application of progressive education principles to curriculum and pre and in service teacher education in such contexts. The central focus of this book is the formalistic teaching prevalent in the classrooms of many developing countries. Formalistic teacher centred traditional didactic pedagogic teaching is appropriate in the many countries with revelatory epistemologies unpopular and old fashioned though these methods may seem in some western especially Anglophone ones. Formalism has been the object of many failed progressive curriculum and teacher education reforms in developing countries for some 50 years.      Reforming Education in Developing Countries Izhar Oplatka, 2018-11-12 Underpinned in the stream of thought named communitarianism, Reforming Education in Developing Countries argues that developing countries need educational reforms that are tightly entwined into their cultural, social and organizational contexts. It questions the applicability of neoliberal reforms in developing societies through an analysis of the main elements of neoliberalism in education. It highlights the critical role of the community and suggests new and alternative lines of thought for the practice of reform initiation and implementation in developing countries. The book criticizes major neoliberal ideas in education, illuminates the distinctions between current neoliberal reforms and the characteristics of traditional societies, analyzes major educational ideologies in the developed world and emphasizes the key role of local communities in this world. It proposes a dynamic model of reforming education in these countries that includes three major phases and integrates both modern and traditional indigenous educational purposes and values. Evocative ponderings are outlined throughout the book to promote critical thinking and reframing of educators' views towards educational reform and change. This book will be of great interest to researchers and students in the fields of educational leadership educational policy educational change comparative education political science and sociology It will also appeal to educators supervisors and policymakers      Education Strategy in the Developing World Christopher S. King,M. Anne Hill,1997-07-01 Why do women in most developing countries lag behind men in literacy Why do women get less schooling than men This anthology examines the educational decisions that deprive women of an equal education It assembles the most up to date data organized by region Each paper links the data with other measures of economic and social development This approach helps explain the effects different levels of education have on women's fertility mortality rates life expectancy and income Also described are the effects of women's education on family welfare The authors look at family size and women's labor status and earnings They examine child and maternal health as well as investments in children's education Their investigation demonstrates that women with a better education enjoy greater economic growth and provide a more nurturing family life It suggests that when a country denies women an equal education the nation's welfare suffers. Current strategies used to improve schooling for girls and women are examined in detail. The authors suggest an ambitious agenda for educating women. It seeks to close the gender gap by the next century. Published for The World Bank by The Johns Hopkins University Press. New Education Policy, Sustainable Development and Nation Building Manish K. Verma, 2025-06-06. The book provides a comprehensive account of the linkages between education, sustainable development, and nation building from an interdisciplinary perspective. It examines various theories of education and sustainable development and critically explores the origin, evolution, and contours of education in India through the lens of the current policy debates around the Indian educational system. The book also investigates to what extent the New Educational Policy deliberations can be instrumental for the nation's development as well as be an effective tool for devising sustainable solutions including the new challenges posed by climate change. An important blueprint of higher education policy and planning, the book will be indispensable for teachers, students, and researchers of education, public policy, educational studies, development studies, sustainable development, sociology, history, and political studies. It will also be of immense interest to policymakers, development practitioners, and NGOs. Resources in Education, 2000. Research in Education, 1973-12.
