When Ways of Life Collide Paul M. Sniderman, Louk Hagendoorn, 2009-02-02 In 2004 Dutch filmmaker Theo van Gogh was brutally murdered on a busy Amsterdam street His killer was Mohammed Bouyeri a twenty six year old Dutch Moroccan offended by van Gogh's controversial film about Muslim suppression of women The Dutch government had funded separate schools housing projects broadcast media and community organizations for Muslim immigrants all under the umbrella of multiculturalism But the reality of terrorism and radicalization of Muslim immigrants has shattered that dream In this arresting book Paul Sniderman and Louk Hagendoorn demonstrate that there are deep conflicts of values in the Netherlands In the eyes of the Dutch for example Muslims oppress women treating them as inferior to men In the eyes of Muslim immigrants Western Europeans deny women the respect they deserve Western Europe has become a cultural conflict zone Two ways of life are colliding Sniderman and Hagendoorn show how identity politics contributed to this crisis The very policies meant to persuade majority and minority that they are part of the same society strengthened their view that they belong to different societies At the deepest level the authors findings suggest the issue that government and citizens need to be concerned about is not a conflict of values but a clash of fundamental loyalties

Frontier's Fading Embers Peregrine Peverell, 2024-09-28 In Frontier's Fading Embers the twilight of the American West comes alive through the eyes of Ezra Hawkins a former lawman struggling to find his place in a rapidly changing world As railroads and telegraph lines snake across the once untamed landscape Ezra grapples with outlaws and his own growing obsolescence The novel paints a vivid portrait of frontier life weaving together the stories of settlers Native Americans and ambitious newcomers against the backdrop of historical events like the Gold Rush and the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad Through a series of interconnected vignettes readers are immersed in the moral complexities of frontier justice and the clash between tradition and progress The rugged untamed landscape serves as a character itself mirroring the inner turmoil of those who call it home As Ezra navigates this shifting terrain he confronts not only physical dangers but also profound questions about identity honor and the true cost of civilization With its rich historical detail and exploration of enduring Western myths this novel offers a poignant reflection on the values that shaped a nation and the bittersweet nature of progress

State Building in Boom Times Ryan Saylor, 2014-06-11 Governments that preside over a capable state apparatus can better uphold the rule of law ensure democratic accountability stimulate economic development and provide good governance In the developing world countries differ substantially in their levels of state capacity and ability to achieve these ends leaving scholars and concerned citizens alike wondering about the origins of such inequalities In State Building in Boom Times Ryan Saylor argues that commodity booms and coalitional politics are central to understanding variations in state building within and across Latin America and Africa He shows how resource booms can trigger the provision of new public goods and institution building thus helping countries expand their state capacity But these possibilities hinge on coalitional politics as he demonstrates through six cases Countries ruled by export oriented coalitions Argentina Chile and Mauritius expanded their state capacity as a direct result of commodity booms Countries in which exporters were politically marginalized Colombia Ghana and Nigeria missed analogous state building opportunities because ruling coalitions preyed upon export wealth rather than promoting export interests which in turn undercut state building The coalitional basis of these divergent outcomes suggests that contrary to the prevailing belief in a resource curse natural resource wealth does not doom countries to low state capacity Instead export oriented coalitions can harness boom times for developmental gains even in the context of weak institutions Saylor's work encourages us to reexamine widespread assumptions about the relationship between resource wealth and state building particularly the resource curse State Building in Boom Times elucidates which public policies best serve developing countries trying manage their natural resource wealth

Art and Ritual in the Black Diaspora Paul Griffith, 2016-12-14 Archetypes of Transition in Diaspora Art and Ritual examines residually oral conventions that shape the black diaspora imaginary in the Caribbean and America Colonial humanist violations and inverse issues of black cultural and psychological affirmation are indexed in terms of a visionary gestalt according to which inner and outer realities unify creatively in natural and metaphysical orders Paul Griffith's central focus is hermeneutical examining the way in which religious and secular symbols inherent in rite and word as in vodun limbo the spirituals puttin on ole massa and dramatic and narrative structures for example are made basic to the liberating post colonial struggle This evident interpenetration of political and religious visions looks back to death rebirth traditions through which African groups made sense of the intervention of evil into social order Herein moreover the explanatory epistemic and therapeutic structures of art and ritual share correspondences with the mythic archetypes that Carl Jung posits as a psychological inheritance of human beings universally
