

Elements of Argument

in writing

Argument

Three types:
• A fact is a statement that can be proved.
• A claim is a statement that is not proven.
• A fact is a statement that is not proven.

Argumentative Writing

Argumentative writing is a balanced development of both sides of an issue.

Concluding Statements

Concluding statements are the final sentences of an argument. They summarize the main points and provide a clear, concise conclusion.

Conclusion

The conclusion is the final part of an argument. It summarizes the main points and provides a clear, concise conclusion.

The Six Parts of an Argument

Call to Action

A call to action is a statement that encourages the reader to take a specific action. It is often used in persuasive writing to motivate the reader to take a specific action.

Introduction & Definition

The introduction and definition are the first two parts of an argument. The introduction provides a clear, concise statement of the issue, and the definition provides a clear, concise definition of the key terms.
