Institutional Constructivism in Social Sciences and Law Dora Kostakopoulou, 2018-10-04 This book proposes a new institutional constructivist model for social scientific and legal enquiries based on the interrelations within the social and political world and the application of change in EU laws and politics Much of the research conducted in social sciences and law examines the diverse activities of individuals and collectivities and the role of institutions in the social and political world Although there exist many vantage points from which one can gain entry into understanding how agents in the world act interact shape and bear the world socio legal scientific epistemology has found monism and dualism to be convincing models This book argues that current models do not capture the complexity of our micro worlds macro worlds and meso worlds Nor can they account for the forms and patterns of socio legal change Mind time and change are brought together in an attempt to contribute to socio legal epistemology and to enhance its toolkit The Research Imagination Paul S. Gray, John B. Williamson, David A. Karp, John R. Dalphin, 2007-08-13 The idea that science is a blueprint for research and imagination gives research its life and purpose inspired this comprehensive explanation of research methodology The authors decades of experience have revealed that research is a craft requiring judgment and creativity not simply memorization and application of the rules of science Whether one is conducting an intimate one on one interview or a large scale examination of an entire society human imagination and scientific principles of inquiry go hand in hand To that end this book emphasizes scientific method but also acknowledges its critics It covers a wide variety of data collection techniques but presents them as reinforcing rather than competing with one another thus striking a balance between qualitative and quantitative methods It is designed for students and instructors who want a comprehensive treatment of a variety of research techniques with special emphasis on qualitative approaches Science Education for the Future Norman Reid, Khaled Ahmed Al-Madani, Fatheya Mahmood Al-Ahmadi, 2025-04-01 This book draws on the wealth of worldwide research into science education to establish a set of key principles for teaching secondary science It considers the aims of science education and the themes and topics that should be included in the curriculum and how these can be effectively taught and assessed in a variety of contexts Offering a framework for the training and professional development of science teachers the chapters answer key questions such as How can I help my students to make sense of difficult areas in my subject What is meant by understanding and how can I help my students achieve it Is it possible to teach scientific thinking and how can I do it What about learner attitudes when they are sometimes negative What are the different ways to teach in the sciences that are effective How can I make learning in the laboratory more efficient and effective How can I employ assessment as a positive aid to learning Including reflective questions tasks and diagrams this is essential reading for all student and practising secondary science teachers

Health Systems Thinking James A. Johnson, Douglas E. Anderson, Caren C. Transforming Violent Political Movements Kevin E. Grisham, 2014-03-21 This book explores the factors that influence violent rebellious political organisations to transform into other entities such as political parties criminal organisations and terrorist organisations From the end of the Second World War until 1990 many events in the world centred on the bipolar struggle between the United States and the USSR Although there were numerous civil wars occurring during the Cold War era many of these conflicts went virtually unnoticed unless they were linked to the Cold War struggle for ideological dominance In the aftermath of the fall of the Soviet Union the number of intra state conflicts was prevalent around the globe Along with the occurrence of civil wars a variety of violent political movements also developed Examining cases from Latin America Africa Europe and Asia this book addresses how violent political movements transform during and after conflict into new types of organisations using the collective political violence transformative CPVT model The study uses a combination of pre existing literature from the fields of sociology and political science archival research and interviews with movement members former and active conducted by the author In studying the Provisional IRA and Sinn Féin in the Spear of the Nation MK and the African National Congress ANC the Abu Sayyaf Group and the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia FARC EP Transforming Violent Political Movements

Knowledge Terrence E. Cook,1994 Social scientists often do not agree on what is a solid contribution to knowledge and what is only the illusory appearance of knowledge In this work Terrence E Cook systematically compares and contrasts the main epistemological families within the social sciences interpretive predictive and praxeological examining strengths and weaknesses of each outlook In exceptionally clear language he shows how paradigms of thought are constructed and reveals the often unreflected presuppositions of each epistemological family He concludes with a move toward synthesis and a turn to the study of strategy Outlines and Highlights for the Elements of Social Scientific Thinking by Kenneth R Hoover, Isbn
