Sufism as Lorna Goodison's Alternative Poetic Path to Hope and Healing Brenda Domínguez-Rosado, 2018-10-15 Jamaican Poet Laureate Lorna Goodison searches for answers for herself and other Caribbean based descendants of enslaved Africans by examining and presenting different spiritualities in her poetry in the hope of providing alternatives to the psyche in need of healing after the traumatic events of the infamous transatlantic Middle Passage The inclusion of Sufism in her poetry seems to have a dual purpose in that it offers a new creative angle and a sincere belief in its power to provide relief from personal anguish The fact that Sufism is similar to Jamaican based religions works in its favor Can Jamaicans who are Goodison s primary subject really relate to its message She does not underestimate her audience s capacity for change or their willingness to accept the ideas of Sufism Her role as facilitator is not a secret she is openly promoting her ideas and her belief that healing is possible This book is divided into three chapters In Chapter One a brief history of slavery in the Caribbean region with a focus on Jamaica is presented The second chapter explicitly focuses on Lorna Goodison and her use of the written word to reveal her feelings about her ancestors and her own traumatic past It also defines Sufism includes some examples of Sufi poems and shows what aspects of Sufism resonate with Jamaican Revivalism and Rastafarianism The final chapter first makes reference to how Sufi elements have been used by other writers such as Alfred Lord Tennyson Walt Whitman Thomas Merton and Doris Lessing and then illustrates how contrary to these others Goodison is the only one to apply Sufi ideals to a Caribbean context thus falling into her own creative category that of a new Caribbean literary canon

Sufism Deepshikha Shahi,2020-06-22 In an effort to attain a global character the contemporary academic discipline of International Relations IR increasingly seeks to surpass its Eurocentric limits thereby opening up pathways to incorporate non Eurocentric worldviews Lately many of the non Eurocentric worldviews have emerged which either engender a derivative discourse of the same Eurocentric IR theories or construct an exceptionalist discourse which is particularly applicable to the narrow experiential realities of a native time space zone as such they fall short of the ambition to produce a genuinely non derivative and non exceptionalist Global IR theory Against this backdrop Sufism A Theoretical Intervention in Global International Relations performs a multidisciplinary research to explore how Sufism as an established non Western philosophy with a remarkable temporal spatial spread across the globe facilitates a creative intervention in the theoretical understanding of Global IR

Elements of Sufism in the Poetry of Rumi and Whitman Gn Memon,Dr Mahdieh Boostani,2021-08-24 This research work is a comparative study of the Persian poet Jalal ad Din Rumi and the American poet Walt Whitman The first question which arises here is how far it is feasible to study these two poets remote not only in time and space but also in culture tradition language and nationality The key phrase in this topic is Comparative Study Comparative Literary Study can be defined as an academic field dealing with the study of literature and cultural expressions across linguistic national and disciplinary boundaries It performs a role similar to that of the study of international relations but work with languages and artistic traditions to understand cultures from the inside In short Comparative Literature is literature without borders The present comparative study tries to investigate the common Sufi and transcendental elements in Rumi and Whitman and also the former s influence on the latter Despite geographical linguistic and historical differences certain common ideas seem to exist between the two poets and this makes this research on comparative study an interesting one To compare and examine the Sufi notions Rumi s Mathnavi Manavi and Divan Shams and Whitman s Leaves of Grass have been considered in this research work A glance at the previous studies of Rumi and Whitman reveals that the elements of Sufism have been ignored in the poetry of Whitman In the present study the following questions have been enquired What is Sufism How did it arise What are its essential features What is classical Persian Sufi poetry Who are the masters of classical Persian Sufi poetry and how they have influenced Rumi How has Sufism influenced both Rumi and Whitman Has Rumi influenced Whitman What are the common Sufi elements in Rumi and Whitman All in all the mystical thoughts of both poets are so close and because Rumi s mystical thoughts are interpreted in the field of Islamic mysticism which is Sufism hence the strong affinity between the two poets has been investigated in terms of Sufi aspect Evidence represented that Whitman was familiar with Persian poetry and Islamic mysticism and he was inspired by the beauty of Sufi poetry Both poets considered self knowledge as the only way for salvation Rumi and Whitman emphasized the soul of man which is mixed with the Nature of immortality They believed human eternal love is widespread in all creations In their idea annihilation can be achieved by love which is the most important element of creation
